

Meet Up Kit

This "kit" is a simple framework to help expand the number of Americans who wish to find other like-minded individuals and form discussion groups of friends. It is also a blueprint to help expand the listenership for The Power Hour with Joyce Riley since her program is among very few, and we feel, the best to present real and accurate news, provide relevant guests and to make available vital information unencumbered by an agenda-managed Big Media.

It is our goal to:

- Foster a change of heart individually
- Encourage change in allocation of our time with regard to faith, family and civic responsibility
- Inspire a true sense of individual worth that once made our nation great

Who we are

- We are an aggregation of like-minded friends who wish to gather on occasion to share
- We have no bank accounts
- No formal leaders
- No fees to "join"
- We do not keep books
- We do not take a roll at meetings
- We have no list of members as there is no entity to join
- We take no minutes
- We never disclose who attends our meet ups

Why? Our U.S. Constitution gives us the right of association with whom we please. It's no one's business but our own.

Further:

We are not:

- An organization
- An association
- A non-profit
- A corporation
- Nor any entity that may be construed to be taxable

What we believe

- The nation before us is ready to reawaken
- In the individual
- Every person is a sacred being with the right to exist
- Every person has a right to express themselves
- Every person has a right to choose their own friends
- There are no challenges before us, only opportunities
- Each person has the right to find their own spiritual way, though we hold God as the source of all and Christ as our redeemer
- As this is not an organization, other points of view are welcome without question
- Americans must re-engage as participants in the workings of the nation
- It begins at home with the allocation of time

Someone once said that television is the greatest "time thief" ever invented. Now, there are even more devices that may fit into that category. On the surface such a statement appears true. It is far from it. A thief takes from you something which you do not wish to give up.

Television, and now the myriad of electronic screened devices however, are invited into our homes and allowed freely to squander the time of families. A father does not speak to his wife, to his kids or his friends while he allows himself to be mesmerized into a stupor. Children are given a substitute parent and learn many lessons a parent would never allow to be taught by a teacher or stranger in their home. And, we all make excuses for our behavior. There are those in the world who are very glad we do this since if we paid attention to what they were doing we would vehemently object.

The more we watch or manipulate devices the less we participate!

Further:

- We do not believe in violence
- We do not tolerate actions of violence and if such is suggested, that individual will be asked to leave immediately.
- And, we believe that The Power Hour with Joyce Riley best expresses the aspirations, hopes, dreams and heart-felt consciousness of Americans who are reawakening to this nation's greatness
- We believe her show is the best voice of this reawaking and we will work tirelessly to promote it to all

We advocate civic endeavors:

- Join a PTA (PTO)
- Go to city council meetings
- Run for school board
- Serve on commissions
- Help those who are running for offices if you cannot do it yourself
- Volunteer for a personal cause

Suggestion

Give of yourself. Besides, most likely you cannot remember who won "Dancing With The Stars" five years ago...remember...the show you just had to see?

You will find, in fact, do have the time.
Re-allocate and awaken!!!

How we expand

So how do we reach out to others to get started?

Listen to The Power Hour with Joyce Riley on www.gcnlive.com and sign up for The Power Hour E-Mail Blast. There you will find more information on Friends of The Power Hour.

Visit the website: www.FriendsOfThePowerHour.com

Also, you know people of like-mind. What's funny...they know people too. The first meet up may only have two people present, then four, then twelve and so forth. Use community announcements and bulletin boards to spread the word. Copy our format for hand out invitation cards and print off a few on your computer printer. No NOT plaster windshields. You could be giving away pure gold and many people would still be offended!

It's about human contact that works best!

Just use the "Edge Connections" concept as most people know many others.

- Send them info or kits
- Call them up and invite them
- Even offer to take them to your meet up
- Let them know there is no organization to join
- And no hidden fees
- (Bring cookies...okay, celery sticks and carrots!)

When selecting the meeting place, be very clear on directions. Remember, the choice of the first meeting place is your call. The next time, vote on it and be gracious if others decide someplace else is best. Keep meet up places constant as much as possible. Be respectful of others decisions.

This effort will expand through people sending the "kits" to others. They will be available on every E-mail News Blast of The Power Hour show daily as a downloadable file. They will also be on www.FriendsOfThePowerHour.com for download. Copy off and send it to your friends in another community, city or state. Ask them to do the same for their friends. Let's blanket the nation!

Nuts and Bolts

Conducting a meet up: The first meeting can be a "get to know you" format with an introduction of suggested topics to discuss in the future with requests from Friends for additional material. Use our Ideas and Topics for Discussion and Research as a place to start.

Also, do not elect officers. Human nature will sort out the leaders and the followers. Leave it at that. Take no minutes and no attendance. If people want to have others' names and addresses they must ask them, as the "group" does not provide lists. Keep it that way so no outside entity can attack the "organization"...as there is none!

It is suggested to create a list of potential speakers. When engaging these people limit their time beforehand to 45 minutes to talk and 15 minutes for follow up questions. Place the speakers in the last hour of your meet up and try to keep everything to 2 hours or less. This will give the guest an impression of a group that has "things to do" and, our people do have other things to do later. No one wants to have something turn into a "gab session".

Start meetings on time...some however may need to be "come and go".

Always introduce new "friends" first before anything else. They will feel more welcome than if it's done at some later time in the meeting.

Listen more, talk less and learn what each person at the table has to offer. Never use profanity. Every person, talkative or subdued, has a story and suggestions. Help them to be heard. You will be blessed with more than you ever thought possible.

If someone incurs an expense to copy materials for the others to review at a meet up, the expense should be covered by the persons receiving material, individually, unless the giver wishes to provide it as a gift. The group does not collect funds for such expenditures.

Our meet ups will help guide individuals in seeking far richer enjoyment from the Real World than settling for an evening of Big Media's "Reality TV" (a true oxymoron!) We pledge we will "Talk the Talk and Walk the Walk".

As topics of discussion are examined by the group, certain topics will attract the attention of various individuals. Encourage research and ask if they would be willing to share their findings with the group.

Suggestion: Have no more than two "presentations" by Friends at each meet up. (not the guest speaker...only have one of those) You will need time for questions and discussions with the friends present. Remember every time to thank a presenter!

Sundries

We will provide a place (www.FriendsOfThePowerHour.com) to get bumper stickers that say Friends of The Power Hour: Ask me (if you like) If you want to print Friends of the Power Hour Tee shirts or polos do not add slogans. We need to respect Joyce's image and her reputation.

We will also strive to update this kit as we work out the "kinks" and grow our Friends across the nation. Suggestions are welcome.

Closing Thoughts

In the past, people rallied around a leader and demanded change. We have moved past such times now as the fundamental way we live today has changed. It is time to reconnect to who we are and not what Big Media and Big Corporate want us to be.

Once we were considered “citizens” who had civic duties in which to participate. The “powers that be” now call us “Consumers” as though we were cattle being fattened up in some gigantic feed lot..... consuming!

The Friends of The Power Hour concept expects first to foster change in the individual, then change in the home, change in the community, the state and finally, the nation.

If we do not reclaim the precious concept of “Citizen”, we may lose the very thing almost everyone believes no one can ever take away from us.....Our Very Freedom.

Change Our Hearts, Change Our Nation!

Remember: Joyce Riley’s show will promote our efforts. We need to conduct ourselves with dignity and respect that others will have only the very best impression of:

The Friends of The Power Hour!

And, that my Friends, is how we make a difference!
